

In the dimly lit gas station, a solitary taxi stood silently, its yellow paint fading with	time. Its windows were dark, its engine idle, and its tires rested on the cold concrete.
---	---